UNDERSTANDING OUR IMPACT

Upon examining our sustainability journey over the last 10 years, it's evident that we've made great progress but still have a lot of work to do. In 2017, we conducted a comprehensive assessment of our business to benchmark our social and environmental risks and impacts to help determine our way forward. We've continued ongoing assessments of our impacts, specifically through:

1. Materiality assessments to understand key overarching risks to people and planet across our value chain.
2. Labour and human rights assessments of our global supply chain.
3. An inventory across our organization for emissions, water consumption and waste generation.

ACTIONING MEANINGFUL CHANGE

Results from the assessments provide us with a fairly clear view of our impact and priorities. Our work begins with a dedicated team of Sustainability experts accountable for determining what to address, developing targets and roadmaps, and partnering with all our divisions to deliver change across our business. This is then actioned through the implementation of policies such as the Aritzia Environmental Policy, Supplier Code of Conduct and Materials Sourcing Policy and Animal Materials Sourcing Policy, and through specific programs or initiatives that we've prioritized.
