Modern Slavery Statement

5. Assessing and managing risk: Due diligence on modern slavery

Greencell’s vision is for workers to be fairly treated and rewarded in working conditions that are safe and secure with the freedom to develop and grow their careers. Greencell aim to achieve this by working in close collaboration with its own growing operations and long term partner growers; clearly communicating the ETI base code requirements in a targeted fashion in line with the company’s short, medium and long term ethical objectives as described in Greencell’s ethical strategy. Greencell’s ethical strategy has been developed following a thorough risk assessment of its supply base using a number of criteria to include Maplecroft and SEDEX risk assessment scores to produce an overall ethical RAG rating which informs what actions need to be taken for the benefit of the employees whether temporary or permanent within the agricultural sector.

Greencell’s ethical, technical and buying teams meet formally with each of our key suppliers at least annually, and in these meetings, we address their approach to slavery and human trafficking. The CSR Manager and the Technical Team will also visit the supplier’s premises, which gives us the opportunity to observe “business ethical activities, working conditions and carry out worker interviews to ensure that our suppliers are not breaching the ETI Base Code or Modern Slavery Act.

Greencell has addressed the issue of Modern Slavery with our policies and procedures on forced labour, to ensure that our suppliers and own organisation are in compliance with the Modern Slavery Act. We conduct careful assessments of prospective new supply chain partners to ensure that they meet the obligations set out in the ETI Base Code, UN Guiding Principles on Human Rights and the Modern Slavery Act.

Greencell continues to address salient human right issues across the supply chains by closely supervising and monitoring the potential risk areas.

Greencell are involved in collaborative projects with the ETI (Ethical Trading Initiative) in areas where there is a prevalence of vulnerable workers.

These projects are as follows:

- ETI Vulnerable Workers programme and production of the Vulnerable Workers toolkit.
- ETI Edible horticulture from Peru programme which addresses poor working conditions and improves the lives of vulnerable workers in Peru.
- ETI Gender Analysis Initiative which raises awareness of women’s economic empowerment in global supply chains.
