CIBC is committed to creating sustainable value for our stakeholders, as we build a relationship-focused bank for a modern world.

In today's rapidly changing world, relationships matter more than ever in banking. That's why CIBC is focused on putting our clients at the centre of all that we do. We work hard to create value for our clients by helping them navigate and thrive in a modern world. From interactions based around our advice and ideas, to our digital innovations that create personalized experiences, this past year we continued to forge stronger, trusted partnerships with our clients and make it as easy for them to engage with us.

This relationship-driven focus extends to all our stakeholders and encapsulates our longstanding dedication to support the long-term prosperity of the people and communities we serve.

- > To deliver an exceptional experience for our team members and nurture the next generation of CIBC leaders, we invested more than $63 million last year in developing our people and making progress on our inclusion and diversity goals.
- > Together with our employees, we contributed more than $80 million to communities across North America to make a positive impact. Our team's personal generosity – through their donations and volunteerism – is something we're very proud of at CIBC.
- > We engaged with industry and non-profit organizations to address critical societal issues such as climate change, responsible finance and gender balanced leadership that matter to our stakeholders.

In the global economy, sustainability has become an important yardstick for business performance. That's why we're so pleased to be included as the only Canadian bank to make the Corporate Knights Global 100 Most Sustainable Corporations in 2018, placing us in the top 2% of companies globally on our environmental, social and governance (ESG) performance. As this report shows, we were very active across the spectrum of environmental, social and governance areas, with our efforts supporting a number of the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals.

All organizations need to adapt and do more – much more – to help shape a truly sustainable future, and CIBC is dedicated to doing its part.

Victor G. Dodig

These topics have been determined through our materiality assessment, which is reviewed on a regular basis. Below is a list of our material topics along with a description of why they matter. In this report, we have organized our material topics into five overarching themes; we also discuss other priorities and emerging issues that relate to these themes.

Client Experience

Responsible Finance

We recognize that we have a responsibility to proactively identify and manage the environmental and social impacts of our lending activities, so that we balance the sustainable growth of our business and our communities.

Employee Engagement

The CIBC Corporate Responsibility Report and Public Accountability Statement provides an overview of CIBC's environmental, social and governance commitments to our stakeholders and our annual performance in these areas.

Standards and Assurance

This report is written in accordance with the Global Reporting Initiative (GRI) Standards and fulfills the requirements for a Core report. This framework sets out the principles and indicators that organizations can use to measure and report their environmental, social and governance performance. Please refer to our GRI Index, located in the Appendix, for a listing of our GRI disclosures included in this report and in our Annual Report and Management Proxy Circular. Additional information about CIBC is also available at www.cibc.com.

While the performance data in this report was not externally assured, the report content was reviewed by internal subject matter experts along with our teams in Legal, Compliance, Communications and Public Affairs, Human Resources and Risk Management and has been validated by supporting documentation.

This report covers our fiscal 2018 activities in North America for the year ended October 31, 2018, unless otherwise noted. We report annually and any material restatements and significant changes from previous reports are described in performance data footnotes. Measures are metric and currency amounts are in Canadian dollars, unless otherwise noted.

Materiality

Our report focuses on ESG-related topics that are deemed "material". As defined by GRI, material topics are those with the potential to have both a significant environmental, social or governance impact on our business and that substantially influence the assessments and decisions of our stakeholders.

To determine our material topics, we conduct an assessment that includes researching mega-trends and industry issues, listening to the interests and concerns of stakeholders through various engagement methods (discussed in section 1.6) and examining opportunities to support responsible and sustainable development. Our material topics are regularly reviewed and updated to ensure they reflect the most relevant ESG issues for our business and our stakeholders. For a list of our 2018 material topics, please refer to section 1.2.

Every day, our 44,000 team members are focused on fulfilling our vision of being the leader in client relationships. And for us that means building strong, inclusive relationships and delivering the very best client experience.

Our client-focused culture is a bank-wide priority. It's a multi-faceted effort, from the service we provide every day to how we communicate, handle requests and resolve concerns.

We're harnessing digital innovation to build a relationship-oriented bank for a modern world. We face the complexity of serving multiple generations of clients – some more comfortable than others with the pace of changing technology. While we have made everyday banking transactions easier, clients want greater engagement with our teams for more complex financial needs. One example of how we are doing this is the transformation of our banking centres. In 2018, we transformed our 150th banking centre to an advice centre, reflecting evolving client needs.

Our client focus is also reflected in our commitment to inclusive and barrier-free access to banking services.

Management Approach

Our client-focused culture is embedded throughout our bank with the goal of providing clients the best possible experience each time they do business with us.

Our Service Commitment to You outlines our focus on exceeding client expectations, and sets out the standards that our clients can expect from CIBC and that we demand of ourselves. We strive to be open and forthcoming, provide clear explanations of our products, services and fees, listen to client concerns and provide solutions that are easy to understand and flexible to individual needs. When concerns arise, our goal is to make things right by providing a fair and speedy resolution each and every time.

Everyone at CIBC is accountable for our service commitment – from the Client Service Representative in the banking centre to the President and Chief Executive Officer. A member of our Executive Committee is leading the charge to ensure all of our business units fulfill our commitment of delivering the very best client experience. Our compensation structure is aligned to our client experience goals, with variable incentive compensation awards aligned with client experience performance.

We continue to have a strong and ongoing focus on the client experience. The CIBC Client Experience Index, which is a range of relevant measures from each of our businesses, is aligned to our client-focused strategy and includes external and internal Net Promoter Score (NPS) studies as well as specific business and operational metrics which tightly correlate with the client experience.

Creating distinctive client experiences through digital innovation

We continue to enhance and expand our award-winning digital platforms, capabilities and features to create engaging client experiences.

In recent years, CIBC has introduced many digital firsts, including being the first Canadian financial institution to make the three leading mobile wallets – Apple Pay, Google Pay and Samsung Pay – available to our clients. At the forefront of these efforts is our Digital Strategy Team. This team works to understand and meet the growing digital expectations of clients, through resources such as:

- > CIBC Live Labs – our innovation and digital technology centre in Toronto’s MaRS Discovery District where our teams create digital products and services for clients, from advanced voice navigation and digital carts to improvements in secure authentication.
- > CIBC Data Studio – our innovation hub that supports tech companies at all stages of growth.

In 2018, we introduced CIBC Innovation Banking, a full-service business that delivers strategic advice and funding to North American technology and innovation clients at each stage of their business cycle, from startup to IPO and beyond.

“We’re committed to becoming one of North America’s leading client-focused banks in the innovation ecosystem. It’s about delivering capabilities and functionality that our clients want and value.”

Mike Boluch, CIBC EVP, Direct Banking, Innovation, and Analytics

2018 Performance

Measuring the client experience

Over the past several years we have made meaningful progress towards building a client-focused culture and improving the client experience. Bank-wide measures are used to track client experience including internal and external client experience insight and research studies managed by third-party providers, one of which is the Ipsos Customer Satisfaction Index NPS.

In 2018, we launched our new CIBC Client Experience Index discussed above. The composition of this Index is evolving as we learn how to most effectively measure client experience across our bank. In 2018, our goal was to achieve 100% of the aggressive target we set for this Index, and we achieved 99% of this target by year end.

Goal – 100% of CIBC Client Experience Index target

2018 Performance – 99%

Client Experience	2016	2017	2018

CIBC “APPY DAY” is about promoting our digital banking capabilities and showing clients how CIBC makes it easy for them to bank where, when and how they want.

Taking complaints seriously

We take client feedback seriously and strive to do everything we can to resolve concerns or complaints. Our Complaint Resolution Process includes the CIBC Ombudsman’s Office. The goal of the Office is to resolve disputes fairly through an independent, impartial and thorough investigation. Recommendations are not binding and our clients are free to pursue other avenues if a settlement is not reached. The cases brought to the CIBC Ombudsman’s Office allow us to identify opportunities for improvement in our products and services to clients.

CIBC Ombudsman’s Office	2016	2017	2018
Investigations
• Banking	182	240	305
• Investments	30	18	28
Resolutions to the satisfaction of the client	51%	51%	52%
Average number of days to complete investigations
• Banking	19	21	28
• Investments	29	35	36

The Ombudsman for Banking Services and Investments (OBSI) remains CIBC’s External Complaint Body for both banking and investment complaints. The CIBC Ombudsman’s Office works closely with OBSI to resolve escalated complaints and, in 2018, OBSI supported CIBC’s findings in 89% of the files escalated to them compared to 88% in 2017.

Responsible sales practices

At CIBC, doing what's right for our clients is at the heart of establishing deep, trusting and long-lasting client relationships. It's about putting our clients at the centre of everything we do, from recommending products and services based on their needs to resolving an issue quickly and fairly.

- > Through our business controls and oversight functions, we have procedures and processes in place designed to monitor the sales practices of our frontline sales teams. If we suspect a discrepancy that contravenes our Code of Conduct, we undertake a thorough and independent review. Contravention of the Code by a team member may result in disciplinary action up to and including termination.
- > From our senior executives to our frontline teams, client experience is a key metric used to measure performance, including incentive awards. Our team is focused on doing what is right for our clients and supported to do so through training, tools and our values of Trust, Teamwork and Accountability.
- > Our Client Service Representatives (CSR) in Personal and Small Business Banking help clients with their day-to-day banking needs, including discussing basic banking solutions based on a client's transaction history and needs. Should a CSR recognize a service that our client may benefit from, they refer them to a qualified advisor.
- > Our client experience feedback system allows us to collect and share client insights to gauge the effectiveness of employee/client interactions and to reinforce best practices.

Clear, open communication is also a priority because we want our clients to make informed financial decisions. We provide candid explanations of our terms, conditions and fees relating to our products and services. Our service fees are based on three principles:

1. They should be simple to understand.
2. They should reflect our commitment to deliver options and value.
3. They should provide clients with choices to reduce or even eliminate certain fees.

Privacy and information security

Protecting the privacy and confidentiality of our clients' personal information, especially in light of emerging technologies and trends, is an integral part of our commitment to service excellence.

To help us meet this commitment, our Chief Privacy Officer oversees CIBC's privacy management framework. This framework – consisting of privacy policies, procedures, proactive consulting, and privacy awareness and education – assists in preventing and mitigating privacy risk. All employees complete mandatory Code of Conduct, privacy and information security training upon hiring and subsequently annually.

In addition, we implement security safeguards designed to prevent unauthorized use, sharing, loss or theft of information. Our Chief Information Security Officer oversees the bank's information security organization and framework. This involves managing CIBC's information security strategy, policies, risk management, security architecture and services, security testing and cyber resilience practices to protect our systems, bank and client information from damage and unauthorized disclosure.

There is an ever-evolving threat landscape, so we strive to achieve an overall cyber resilience that prevents, detects and responds to threats such as data breaches, malware, unauthorized access and denial-of-service attacks. We continually perform cyber security preparedness, testing and recovery exercises to validate our defenses, benchmark against best practices and provide regular updates to the Board. We also actively collaborate with industry peers and government agencies in threat intelligence sharing, cyber response exercises and other activities to improve collective defenses across our industry.

2.2 Financial Inclusion

At CIBC, we pride ourselves on being an inclusive bank. We support financial inclusion through affordable banking and financing solutions, free access to financial experts and education, and by operating in underserved communities.

Affordable banking

In Canada, we offer low-cost accounts, credit cards and other services for students, seniors and newcomers.

In the U.S., we offer EasyPath Banking solutions for individuals and families in low- or moderate-income communities who need affordable banking solutions to help them create financial stability.

Our newest U.S. banking centre is scheduled to open in 2019 in Bronzeville, Chicago, one of the city's low-income neighbourhoods. The full-service location will help individuals and families make smart financial decisions by providing education, access to financial experts and affordable banking products.

Helping clients through economic hardship

We are committed to assisting clients in times of distress. Our advisors work directly with clients to help them manage their finances when they are faced with hardship or crisis that makes it difficult for them to meet their financial responsibilities. In these situations, we offer assistance to clients in their day-to-day banking and long-term financial needs by deferring mortgage or other loan payments and providing them with debt restructuring solutions.

We also support disaster relief efforts in communities by making corporate donations and facilitating fundraising through our banking centres. In 2018, for example, we supported the victims of devastating wildfires in California by donating to the Red Cross via our webpage and matching employee donations up to $10,000.

Banking centres across Canada collected monetary donations, and CIBC donated $10,000 to Canadian Red Cross to assist with the relief efforts for those affected by the flooding in New Brunswick.

Clients in British Columbia who were experiencing financial impact as a result of the wildfires received help and personalized advice during this time.

We made a donation of $25,000 to the Canadian Red Cross, to those affected by tornado damage in Ottawa and Gatineau, and accepted monetary donations at all banking centres to the Canadian Red Cross.

CIBC supported the community of Humboldt, Saskatchewan, by making donations to the Royal University Hospital Foundation and the STARS Foundation to support emergency services and first responders who were on the scene of the tragic accident.

Strengthening financial literacy

Financial literacy is crucial in today's complex marketplace. We want to help our clients strengthen their knowledge, skills and confidence to make sound financial decisions and improve their financial well-being.

- > Information and advice: Our front-line staff are trained to educate clients on their financial options and explain financial information and terms clearly.
- > Online tools: We offer online tips and tools to help clients navigate personal and family financial matters, such as budget and cash management, reducing debt, family finance, home ownership, retirement planning and tax savings. Our Financial Education webpage includes information about our financial education resources.
- > Financial education programming: We support non-profits that deliver financial literacy initiatives. Learn more in section 5.0 of this report on Building Community.
- > Credit and homebuyer education: CIBC Bank USA partners with community organizations to provide educational seminars and events focusing on credit and homebuyer education. CIBC Bank USA also provides funding to HUD-certified housing counseling agencies that provide homebuyer education services.

To advance Indigenous financial literacy, we have created a Personal Financial Planning Course to help participants take stock of all their assets and obligations and develop a suitable financial plan. The course can be presented in the community at no charge. We also offer an Indigenous-focused Financial Education Program that supports community members as they seek to understand the financial services available to them. As part of this program, we offer online banking education and financial literacy workshops designed to meet their unique needs.

Collaborating to Meet the Unique Needs of Our Women Clients

At CIBC, we're leveraging the uniqueness of our team to generate outstanding ideas that will enhance the experience of our clients. A great example is our CIBC XX Design Challenge.

For the second year in a row, we brought together team members in a 'hackathon' to collaborate on innovative ideas for meeting the unique financial services needs of women. A diverse group of 150 women from across our bank were invited to work in teams to tackle the 2018 event's theme: disrupting unconscious gender bias in CIBC's products and services.

The forum was a catalyst for real change, as each of the top three ideas was given executive sponsorship for further development and exploration.

“To ensure CIBC remains at the forefront of delivering the best services for our clients – regardless of gender – we have set out to capture the hearts and minds of diverse female banking clients. To us, that means actually rethinking the current service model being offered. Who better to spearhead this change than the women at CIBC themselves.”

3.1 Responsible Finance

Why it's important to CIBC

Proactively identifying and managing the environmental and social impacts of our lending activities is critical to the sustainable growth of our business and our communities.

Management Approach

2018 marked the 25th year since launching our corporate environmental policy. First approved by the Board in 1993, the policy outlines CIBC's longstanding commitment to environmental stewardship. Updated every two years – including most recently in 2018 – and approved by our Chief Risk Officer, the policy commits CIBC to protect and conserve the environment in all our business activities, safeguard the interests of stakeholders from unacceptable levels of environmental risk, and support the principles of sustainable development.

As an integral part of our due diligence process, we conduct environmental and related social risk assessments of our business lending transactions. In addition to protecting the bank from undesired risks, our environmental and related social review process often helps our clients better understand and effectively manage their own risks and liabilities.

- > Our lending managers must follow CIBC's Environmental and Social Credit Risk Management Standards and Procedures to identify environmental and social risks pertaining to credit evaluation and financing. These guidelines require various environmental and related social due diligence depending on the level of risk.
- > Our environmental risk management team further assesses lending opportunities that may pose environmental and related social risks for CIBC. The team provides training for applicable CIBC employees as required.
- > Complementing our own policies, since 2003 we have used the Equator Principles, a voluntary financial industry benchmark, for assessing and managing environmental and social risk in project financing. These principles have been incorporated into CIBC's environmental and related social due diligence requirements.
- > Our environmental risk management team reviews all Equator Principles-applicable transactions and conducts regular training across the bank to ensure lending and risk adjudication groups are current with the requirements of the Equator Principles. For large projects, the team may complete site visits to assess environmental compliance and management.

Transactions that may pose significant environmental and related social risk are escalated to the Reputation and Legal Risk Committee for senior executive review, if required. In 2018, two proposed transactions were escalated through this process.

Given the growing importance of environmental risk to CIBC, our environmental policy and governance is overseen by the Senior Vice-President, Enterprise and Conduct Risk, who reports directly to the Chief Risk Officer. Our environmental risk management team is responsible for developing environmental strategy, setting environmental standards and targets, and reporting on performance. In addition, an enterprise-wide Environmental Management Committee, comprised of senior leaders who meet quarterly, provides input into our environmental strategy and oversees CIBC's environmental initiatives. Individual performance against these responsibilities is assessed annually and considered in the final determination of variable incentive compensation awards.

We have developed an integrated approach to managing our reputation risks through a framework of corporate-wide standards and processes – including our Code of Conduct, our Supplier Code of Conduct, our Global Reputation and Legal Risks policy and procedures, and policies related to anti-money laundering and anti-terrorist financing, lobbying, and the environment. We finance companies with sound environmental and social risk policies and governance. We will not knowingly finance companies that:

- > Make weapons banned by international treaties signed by Canada and the U.S.
- > Manufacture or trade in equipment or material for the purpose of chemical, biological or nuclear weapons, land mines, or cluster munitions.
- > Show any evidence of modern slavery, such as forced labour, human trafficking, and child labour.
- > Manufacture products or engage in trade/activities deemed illegal under host-country laws or regulations.

3.2 Responsible Investing

As a large investor and asset manager, we're committed to responsible investing and integrating environmental, social and governance (ESG) factors into our investment and ownership decisions. We believe this helps us better manage risk, identify opportunities, meet client needs and generate sustainable, long-term returns.

Through our investment arm – CIBC Asset Management (CIBC AM) – we consider the wide range of ESG implications that can affect investment performance. CIBC AM is a signatory of the United Nations Principles for Responsible Investment (PRI), a voluntary set of investment principles for incorporating ESG factors into investment practice. In adopting these principles, we are contributing to a more sustainable global financial system. We are also a registered observer of the Green Bond Principles, a member of the Canadian Coalition for Good Governance, a sustaining member of the Responsible Investment Association of Canada and have recently rejoined the United Nations Environment Programme – Finance Initiative.

Investment Process

- > Evaluation and screening: CIBC AM has a rigorous equity and credit research process that includes an evaluation of the environmental and social factors of a company to assess their possible impact on stock and corporate bond performance. We also consider the quality and governance practices of corporate boards.
- > External research: CIBC AM draws on research provided by Sustainalytics, an independent firm that assesses the ESG performance of global companies. Attention to these issues is central to our broader client investment objectives, not just the objectives of clients specifically interested in ethical investing.
- > Voting and engagement: The CIBC AM Proxy Voting Guidelines applied to all equity accounts are consistent with the PRI. We take our responsibility as shareholders seriously and many votes, including all controversial votes, are subjected to close scrutiny by the CIBC AM equity investment team. As part of our due diligence, a company's management team, board members and others may be consulted before a vote is cast.
- > Sector exclusion and ethical investing: CIBC AM manages a family of equity and fixed income portfolios with specific Socially Responsible Investment (SRI) mandates. These SRI portfolios have criteria set by the client and exclude securities of any companies involved in the tobacco, alcohol, weaponry and other similarly themed industries or that have major operations in countries that disregard human rights.

Gender-Themed Bond: a First in Canada

In September 2018, CIBC introduced the first Women in Leadership Social Bond Framework in Canada, enabling institutional clients to invest in a bond focused on companies with a commitment to gender diversity in leadership roles.

The global momentum around responsible investing continues to grow, as individuals and organizations seek ESG-driven choices for their portfolios.

With our milestone Women in Leadership Social Bond Framework, we are facilitating new sustainable investment options for clients while promoting the importance of gender diversity across corporate Canada. Funds raised through the bonds will support companies that have demonstrated leading practices or have made an active effort to foster greater gender diversity in leadership positions. Carbon Portfolio Tracker Helps Money Managers Assess Carbon Risk

CIBC's Carbon Portfolio Tracker, developed by our Equity Research team, offers money managers a simple, comprehensive tool to understand and manage carbon risk across portfolios. Most importantly, a money manager or investor can easily determine how their portfolios are weighted in terms of greenhouse gas (GHG) emissions, relative to traditional benchmarks. The tool applies to the S&P/TSX Composite Index, the Dow Jones Industrial Average and the S&P 500.

Climate change is a pivotal issue for our planet. Its physical effects, along with regulations designed to mitigate it, will have a measurable impact on communities and the economy. That's why we are committed to understanding and responsibly managing the relevant impacts of climate change on our business.

As a service-based company, CIBC has relatively low carbon emissions. However, we recognize there are opportunities to further improve our carbon emission performance associated with our operations, supply chain and business activities. Many of our clients operate businesses that are currently facing or will face new carbon emission regulations in the future.

Carbon risk management program

CIBC's carbon risk management program assesses and manages the impacts of climate change and climate change-driven regulations on our business operations and those of our clients. The program comprises five elements:

Leaders in our Environmental Risk Management and Corporate Real Estate groups are accountable for energy and related GHG emission reduction activities through personal performance measures. CIBC's variable incentive compensation program aligns annual awards with business and individual performance.

Carbon-related financial disclosures

We are committed to being transparent with stakeholders on our efforts to address climate change:

Consistent with the TCFD recommendations, we are assessing the potential impact of physical and transition risks from climate change on our lending portfolio. We continue to evaluate the potential for further climate-related disclosures that align with the TCFD recommendations and to engage with peers in a variety of industries in an effort to ensure that any methodology developed to support such disclosures is reasonable and appropriate and can be applied on a consistent basis. Our climate change disclosure statement provides further details.

Managing Environmental Impacts

We continue to seek ways to reduce the environmental impact of our facilities and operations, with a focus on pollution prevention and the efficient use of natural resources.

- > Environmental considerations, including climate change, are integrated into our core business through our Corporate Environmental Policy.
- > Our environmental risk management team works closely with other groups across the organization to facilitate implementation of the policy and best practices.
- > Our Environmental Management System (EMS) follows an ISO 14001 framework that is used to achieve environmental policy requirements.
- > To ensure the continual improvement and effectiveness of our EMS, we monitor and review environmental Key Performance Indicators. An executive-level Environmental Management Committee provides input on environmental strategy and oversight of CIBC's environmental initiatives.

Electronic waste and recycling

Our goal is 100% of electronic waste diversion from landfill. In 2018, we once again met that goal. A portion of our used electronics is donated to the Renewed Computer Technology program to help meet the need for computers in schools, public libraries and community organizations. For 25 years, CIBC has been the largest corporate supporter of the program. In 2018, we donated 4,202 computer components, which diverted approximately 31,000 kilograms of electronic waste from landfills.

LEED-certified buildings

Our green building design criteria, which includes energy efficiency, are applied to new builds in our network of banking centres and offices.

CIBC Square, our new global headquarters coming to downtown Toronto in 2020, is being built with sustainable development in mind, targeting LEED Platinum certification – the highest level under the LEED green building rating system. CIBC Square will connect to all modes of transportation, while a series of pedestrian-friendly pathways will provide access to downtown Toronto's PATH network, businesses and amenities. The site will also feature a one-acre elevated park to serve as an urban outdoor space for CIBC employees, clients and the public.

Currently, seven percent of our occupied space is located in LEED-certified buildings.

3.4 Responsible Sourcing

CIBC is a major purchaser of goods and services with more than 5,700 suppliers globally and $3.6 billion spent on procurement in 2018. We strive to build collaborative supplier relationships and practice responsible and sustainable procurement.

Doing Business With CIBC

We only engage with suppliers who meet or exceed the requirements of our Supplier Code of Conduct, including:

- Acting ethically and complying with applicable laws
- Demonstrating responsible employment practices, such as minimum wage and overtime hours, safe working conditions and respecting human rights
- Following responsible business practices, including labour and employment standards, immigration, health and safety, meeting building codes and safeguarding privacy
- Caring for the community and environment

We screen and work closely with our suppliers to ensure they honour our standards, policies and expectations, including specific ESG criteria, all of which are outlined on our website in a dedicated section for suppliers.

- > We have a fair, transparent and inclusive sourcing process to evaluate and select suppliers.
- > Suppliers are assessed – before and while they do business with CIBC – on comprehensive criteria, including their social and environmental initiatives, and must abide by our global Supplier Code of Conduct, commit to living up to our core values and meet the highest standards of ethical and professional behaviour.
- > Procedures are in place to assess supplier risk and to manage our supplier relationships. Our Supplier Governance Program, Enterprise Supplier Governance Office and Executive-level Enterprise Sourcing Committee govern our bank's sourcing activities across a broad range of suppliers.
- > To comply with the U.K. Modern Slavery Act, CIBC's statement on the matter sets out the steps taken to prevent slavery and human trafficking in our business and supply chains.

Opening the doors for diverse suppliers

Through our Supplier Inclusion and Diversity program, we are committed to building on the current diversity within our supply chain. We want to do business with companies that reflect the clients and communities we serve and drive value for all of CIBC's stakeholders.

To support this, we are focused on promoting and providing opportunities for diverse suppliers, including enterprises that are owned and managed by women, Indigenous peoples, veterans, people with disabilities, and visible minorities, as well as companies with a diverse workforce. One way we're working to build supplier diversity is through ongoing relationships with organizations that work in this area (see below).

In 2018, our Sourcing group supported our HR team with their Inclusion and Diversity strategy to identify and engage Indigenous recruitment suppliers for services. In addition, the Sourcing group looked for supplier diversity opportunities to engage in the building of CIBC Square in Toronto.

Memberships

To help us reach and grow business with suppliers from diverse communities, CIBC is a member of the following organizations and we participate in their supplier diversity events:

Canadian Aboriginal and Minority Supplier Council	Certifies firms at least 51% owned and operated by Indigenous peoples and visible minorities

Environmentally responsible procurement

Our Environmentally Responsible Procurement Standard outlines the requirements for buying any goods and services that may be associated with significant adverse environmental impacts. As part of our overall supplier management process, we monitor supplier environmental performance, including an ongoing requirement for suppliers to complete a questionnaire at least every two years.

Through this questionnaire, we collect and review supplier information pertaining to:

- > Environmental management systems
- > Environmental initiatives and performance
- > Environmental violations
- > Product stewardship
- > Forestry practices
- > Third-party certifications

We buy paper from sources that are environmentally and socially responsible, and in 2018 more than 98% of CIBC's total paper consumption was Forest Stewardship Council (FSC)-certified. This includes printer paper, client statements, forms, cheques, envelopes and commercial printing.

Goal – 100% of paper used is FSC-certified

2018 Performance – 98%

Goal – Reduce internal paper use by 5% per employee over five years

2018 Performance – 2018 was the baseline year

We have a five-year goal to reduce our internal paper use by 5% per employee (kg paper per FTE, 2018 baseline).

Management Approach

At CIBC, we are committed to delivering on an exceptional experience for our team members and nurture the next generation of CIBC leaders by prioritizing their development and providing the tools, collaborative environment and support they need to perform at their very best. To create a sustainable global workplace, we continue to encourage community and well-being by offering:

- > More flexibility and choice in where and how we work.

- > A culture empowered by leaders who are more visible and accessible.

- > A seamless, connected technology experience so we can work faster and more digitally.

Our Chief Human Resources Officer oversees a team that is instrumental in partnering with leaders across the bank to develop an engaged, diverse and inclusive workforce. Individual and organizational success against key measures such as employee engagement and total turnover of key talent are embedded in our leadership performance goals and reviewed with the Board on an annual basis.

New global headquarters reflects our workplace transformation

As part of our global workplace transformation, CIBC Square will soon be home to approximately 14,000 of our team members. Starting in 2020, our new global headquarters located in Toronto will redefine how we work together to shape a modern, flexible workplace that places our clients at the centre of everything we do while fostering collaboration, teamwork and community.

Wellness is a key focus of the space. The building is engineered to LEED Platinum and WELL specifications, so employees will benefit from features such as highly optimized air filtration and ventilation and floor-to-ceiling windows that provide lots of natural light.

Employee Survey Results

To build a strong, innovative, relationship-oriented bank, we need to be firmly plugged into the hearts and minds of our employees. This entails listening and engaging with our employees across job levels, businesses and regions. We have many communication and feedback channels that help us to continuously shape better experiences for our clients and teams.

One of our richest sources of feedback is our confidential Annual Employee Survey. Here, we seek feedback from our employees on a number of aspects of their experience at work including our culture, how we work, development opportunities and senior leadership. The survey results tell us how we are doing at every level of our organization, giving us meaningful data that informs action plans to enhance the employee experience at the local team level and across all of CIBC. In 2018, 86% of our global workplace completed the survey, including our expanded U.S. team for the first time.

- > Our Employee Engagement score continues to be best-in-class among high-performing companies with a score of 88%. This was seven points above the Willis Towers Watson's Global Financial Services Norm. Compared to other financial services companies within this global benchmark, CIBC received higher scores across every category. This includes categories at the heart of our strategy, such as client focus, culture, collaboration and inclusion.
- > Team members' suggestions included increasing our focus on continuous improvement and ensuring internal processes facilitate the best possible service and advice to clients.

As we transform our bank, we also need to ensure we're connected to our team members from day one, to make them feel valued and respected. Beginning in 2018, we piloted a confidential 'pulse check' survey for new hires to give us feedback to help deliver a superior onboarding experience.

² Response rate based on full-time/part-time permanent employees only. However, the 2016 survey included participation from some contingent workers.

³ Includes our expanded U.S. team.

Goal – Exceed global financial services norm for Employee Engagement score

2018 Performance – 88% score was seven percentage points above the global financial services norm

Employee Retention

Retaining our talent is an ongoing priority and another signpost of employee engagement. We monitor turnover across the organization and deploy strategies such as coaching, career planning and emphasizing internal mobility and new experiences to manage turnover in key segments. While our global total turnover rate increased slightly year over year, we had positive results on several fronts:

- > Two-thirds of all non-entry-level vacant positions were filled by internal talent.
- > Approximately 30% of external hires came from team member referrals.

Total Employee Turnover ¹	2016	2017	2018

Developing Our People

Building individual and team capabilities is critical in maintaining our competitive advantage. In 2018, we invested more than $63 million globally on corporate-wide learning and development through in-house classroom, in-person, virtual and online training, as well as tuition reimbursement for externally offered courses and accreditations. This translated to an average of 18.4 hours of training per employee, up from 16.6 hours the previous year. Beyond ensuring that team members are equipped to deliver a great client experience, we want them to achieve their full potential so they thrive and excel.

To optimize our global training model, this past year we began to redesign training to create a more customized learner experience – one that ensures the timely and effective development of each of our team members, while emphasizing our client service and digital capabilities. We apply these blended and modern approaches to learning in our induction programs for multi-incumbent roles, in our offers for continuous education for professional development, and our programs that target skill and knowledge build for specific roles and teams.

During 2018, we launched the CIBC Leadership Institute, an integrated suite of targeted leadership experiences for developing executives and people leaders at all levels of our bank. Organized into three Academies, these experiences leverage high-impact in-person events and cutting-edge digital learning to build leader capabilities and business acumen to accelerate CIBC's strategy.

Continuous Learning

CIBC Continuing Education Learning Hub

The image shows three distinct icons for the CIBC Continuing Education Learning Hub. The first icon, 'CE COURSE LIBRARY', depicts a person sitting at a desk with a laptop under a lamp. The second icon, 'SUPPORT', shows a computer monitor with a bar chart, a target symbol, and a magnifying glass. The third icon, 'CE CREDITS', features a laptop with a play button, a coffee cup, and a hand on a mouse.

Many team members have told us they need support in managing the various continuing education credits required to maintain their financial planning licensing/designations. That was the catalyst behind the Continuing Education Learning Hub, launched in 2018 in partnership with the Canadian Securities Institute. Our new hub simplifies the process and offers team members greater choice, flexibility and control over their professional development.

Rewards and Recognition

Team members share in our collective success and are recognized for their contributions through a competitive Total Rewards offer. It includes salary, a flexible benefits program, pension and retirement savings programs, Employee Share Purchase Plan, Employee Banking Offer, and variable incentive compensation awards reflective of business and individual performance.

We continue to refine and enhance our compensation programs to ensure base salary and variable incentive compensation programs are competitive with market practice and fairly recognize and reward our employees as they grow their capabilities in support of our vision to be the leader in client relationships.

In 2018, we paid close to $5.7 billion in compensation and benefits worldwide.

Financial Benefits	2016	2017	2018

Eligible employees invested in CIBC common shares through the Employee Share Purchase Plan in Canada	63%	70%	74%
Matching contributions co-invested by CIBC towards the purchase of shares for our employees (millions)	$37	$40	$43

Team members' achievements are frequently acknowledged through our corporate intranet and newsfeed. Our Achievers program includes peer-to-peer recognition, quarterly individual or team Achiever awards, annual Achievers and our Awards of Distinction. Our Anniversary program recognizes team members as they reach important milestones in their careers with CIBC.

Performance Management

Each year, managers and their teams work together to set performance and development goals that align with our bank's strategic priorities and support employees' roles and/or career objectives. Regular coaching and feedback throughout the year to discuss actions and behaviour helps to work through challenges and ensure progress against goals. This ongoing performance dialogue is critical to enabling individual, team and our bank's success.

Annual performance reviews provide managers and employees with the opportunity to evaluate individual contributions toward performance goals. Employee self-assessments initiate the discussions with managers, and additional peer feedback is recommended to supplement the assessment. Reviews also take into account the demonstration of CIBC values and compliance with policies and risk management, privacy, governance and controls requirements. Together, this information drives an annual performance rating and, along with business performance, factors into the determination of variable incentive compensation awards.

Supporting Emerging Talent

We're working to help young people succeed, both at CIBC and in the fast-changing digital economy. It's about ensuring we have a strong pipeline of internal talent and the next generation has the right skills for a sustainable future.

From millennial-friendly work practices to development opportunities for students, our efforts have led CIBC to be named one of Canada's Top Employers for Young People, eight years in a row.

Initiatives:

- Co-op opportunities and paid internships for students
- Rotational and Leadership Development programs for both undergraduate and masters/MBA graduates
- Supportive onboarding experience and 'pulse check' survey for new hires
- Mentoring and networking programs
- NextGen Young Professionals Network
- Think tanks and thought forums to foster creativity and collaboration

Health and Well-being

We support the holistic well-being of our workforce because people who feel safe and healthy in all aspects – mind, life, body, and financial – are more engaged and better able to meet our clients' needs. In 2018, we continued to provide a comprehensive range of programs to support and nurture the well-being of our team members and their families. These programs vary by region based on local needs. Here are some examples:

- > Flexibility@CIBC – alternative working arrangements including flexible work schedules, telecommuting and compressed work weeks that help team members balance professional and personal commitments.

- > Emergency Backup Child Care – access to child care services at various locations across North America.
- > Ergonomics – offers tools and information to assess individual workstations and address problems to help eliminate discomfort and prevent injuries.
- > Workplace Accommodation – various solutions and supports, such as sign-language interpreter services, assistive technology, and access to facilities to support religious observance.
- > Wellness Resources – resources to support a healthy lifestyle, including a robust Employee and Family Assistance Program, Wellness Checkpoint (a confidential online health risk appraisal tool) and the LifeSpeak online video series (presents information on physical and mental health, relationships and personal development).

Providing a safe working environment wherever CIBC operates is a crucial part of caring for employees. It is a shared responsibility and collaborative effort, where everyone has an active role to play.

- > All team members in Canada are represented by Workplace Health and Safety Committees, or Workplace Health and Safety Representatives, who conduct monthly workplace inspections to ensure that every part of our workplace is safe.
- > We provide mandatory health and safety training for all team members, which includes information relating to emergency procedures, training to recognize and prevent violence in the workplace, and workplace harassment and sexual harassment awareness training.
- > In addition, team members who are client-facing are provided with specialized training, as well as procedures and practices, on robbery prevention.

4.2 Inclusion and Diversity

Why it's important to CIBC

Making inclusion the way we do business is integral to our global success and competitive edge. We recognize that diverse teams working in an inclusive environment are more innovative, make better decisions, reduce risk and deliver a superior experience for our clients.

Management Approach

Our longstanding commitment to inclusion and diversity is ingrained throughout our organization. We have numerous initiatives in place to promote belonging and attract, engage and develop a diverse talent pool. As we move forward, we continue to introduce innovative programs to help us create a vibrant workforce that leverages the uniqueness of our team and a workplace where all team members can realize their full potential.

CIBC's Inclusion and Diversity Leadership Council, chaired by a member of the Executive Committee, oversees the implementation of the bank's Inclusion and Diversity strategy. The council receives support from a dedicated Inclusion and Diversity Team, senior leaders from Inclusion and Diversity Action Committees across the bank and 10 People Networks connecting over 11,000 team members around the globe.

Our Inclusion and Diversity strategy emphasizes the importance of inclusive leadership. Scorecards track the quarterly progress made towards achieving our Diversity Plan goals. Each member of our executive leadership team has gender composition and broader diversity targets included in their annual performance goals.

> Corporate Governance – See section 6.1 of this report

“Gender diversity is not a women’s issue – it’s a human issue. Creating opportunities and empowering not just women, but persons with disabilities and under-represented groups in the workplace, is extremely important to me personally, and to the health and future of our economy. I’m proud to lead an organization like CIBC that has achieved a number of historic firsts in the field of inclusion and diversity.”

Inclusive Leaders Open Doors for Careers in Technology

CIBC team members grasp the importance of inclusion and diversity and volunteer their time and expertise to make a difference.

In partnership with Hackergal – a non-profit that brings technology programming to girls in grades 6 to 9 to address the gender imbalance in STEM fields – CIBC co-sponsored the largest all-girls hackathon in Canada.

Many of our team members volunteered at the 100+ schools that engaged in the initiative in 2018, impacting more than 3,000 girls. Building on that success, we also hosted a two-day summer program where CIBC volunteers engaged girls ranging in age from 11 to 14 in activities like mini coding challenges and a tour of our Digital Labs at MaRS.

This past year, CIBC became a founding sponsor of #movethedial, an organization focused on the advancement of women in technology through building an inclusive technology ecosystem. We are leveraging this partnership to accelerate change internally within our own technology departments to ensure they are representative of the communities we serve.

Externally, CIBC team members are working through this partnership to educate business startups early on in their journey about the importance of building inclusive cultures to create a stronger Canadian economy.

We're committed to engaging the communities in which we live and work through charitable investments, volunteering, financial literacy programs and contributions to broader economic development.

As the financial services industry modernizes, we are evolving and innovating our business. But we remain focused on supporting the communities we serve. Our community investments reflect this commitment.

For more than 150 years, CIBC has been a strong community partner – making a positive impact through our corporate giving, sponsorships and the volunteer spirit of our team members. This past year alone, we invested a record $80 million in combined corporate and employee contributions.

Coupled with our strategic community investments, CIBC also generates broader economic value in the form of job creation, local hiring and procurement, revenues to government, dividends to shareholders, and more. Our aim is to create long-term economic benefits and opportunities in the communities where we operate so that we contribute to their growth and prosperity.

5.1 Community Investment

Why it's important to CIBC

Healthy and inclusive communities are vital to our clients, our employees and the sustainability of our business. We benefit from operating in many communities across North America, and we believe they should benefit in return – not only through our economic contributions like job creation, but also by ensuring CIBC and team members play an active role in addressing key societal needs.

Management Approach

Giving back is embedded deep within CIBC's culture. We manage a comprehensive community investment program to create social impact as well as business benefits. Our approach includes:

- > Providing donations and sponsorships to support local causes, as well as sharing our business expertise, marketing and other in-kind resources to build capacity for community.
- > Collaborating with non-profits to coordinate our combined resources toward common goals.
- > Measuring, evaluating and continually improving the impact of our community giving.
- > Encouraging and supporting our team members and retirees to be change catalysts in their communities through our Employee Volunteer Program. The program offers opportunities to volunteer during work hours, the chance to volunteer for the bank's community initiatives, and "CIBC Reward Dollars" that can be donated towards a preferred charity or not-for-profit.

Focus Areas

While contributing to a range of societal needs, we support causes that matter most to our employees and clients. This past year, we refined our strategic areas of focus for corporate donations to:

- > Cancer treatment and research: Cancer has historically been a strong focus for CIBC because it's a cause important to our team members and our clients. Along with funds raised by the Canadian Cancer Society CIBC Run for the Cure, most of our donations for hospitals and wellness programs are directed to cancer. We support all steps along the cancer journey from diagnosis to end of life care.
- > Persons with disabilities: The focus on persons with disabilities aligns with CIBC's strategic goal of removing barriers to employment for under-represented groups and promoting accessible and inclusive workplaces.

Our head of Community Investment is responsible for day-to-day management. In the U.S., the team that oversees these responsibilities reports to the CEO of CIBC Bank USA.

2018 Performance

- > Our global community investment was $80 million, up from $70 million the previous year. This comprised $60 million in corporate giving and $20 million in employee-led fundraising and giving.
- > Our contributions supported more than 2,077 charities and non-profits across North America, helping them deliver much-needed programs and build capacity.
- > CIBC employees and retirees volunteered more than 140,000 hours¹ in communities across North America and also raised more than $15 million during our annual Employee Giving Campaign.
- > Our new community investment initiative, One for Change, unifies our areas of giving and mobilizes volunteerism to drive greater social impact (see sidebar).

¹ In 2018 CIBC transitioned to a new technology platform to measure employee volunteerism which resulted in a decrease in hours captured. As the platform is further integrated we anticipate the number of hours captured will increase to more closely reflect actual employee volunteer time.

Goal – $350 million over five years in total corporate and employee giving

2018 Performance – This target is for 2019–2023

Community Contributions	2016	2017	2018
Corporate contributions (millions)	$44	$45	$60
Employee contributions (millions)	$21	$25	$20
Total (millions)	$65	$70	$80

Employees inspire new community investment initiative

In 2018, we launched a new global community investment initiative, One for Change. It was inspired by the tremendous passion our employees have for serving communities through volunteering and fundraising. Each year thousands of employees give generously of their time and money to causes that matter most to them.

One for Change communicates what we stand for, while also being a compass for future action. Our employee-led fundraising campaigns reflect the One for Change spirit:

- > BC Children’s Hospital Campaign
- > CAMH One Brave Night
- > Movember
- > Ride to Conquer Cancer
- > OneWalk to Conquer Cancer
- > SickKids Leaders
- > Tour CIBC Charles-Bruneau
- > Canadian Cancer Society CIBC Run for the Cure

“We know from experience that it only takes one person to make a difference, and that great things happen when our team rallies around a common purpose. This unifying initiative really captures the power of people coming together around causes that have touched our clients, communities and team personally.”

Veni Iozzo, CIBC Executive Vice-President, Communications, Public Affairs & Workplace Transformation

Community Building in 2018

Canadian Cancer Society CIBC Run for the Cure

A 15,000 strong Team CIBC joined more than 82,000 Canadians at 56 run sites across the country, and through pledges, donations and fundraising raised an estimated $3 million of the total $16.2 million through the 2018 Canadian Cancer Society CIBC Run for the Cure (the "Run"). 2018 marked the 22nd year of CIBC's title sponsorship of the Run and, over more than two decades, Team CIBC has raised more than $51 million in support of breast cancer research, education and support.

Tour CIBC Charles-Bruneau

More than 100 Team CIBC cyclists raised over $1 million to support pediatric oncology through the 2018 Tour CIBC Charles-Bruneau. CIBC employees and clients have supported the cause since 2005, contributing over $7.6 million to help the Fondation Charles-Bruneau carry out cutting-edge pediatric research and projects in the hope of creating a cancer-free future for children.

BC Children's Hospital

Through garage sales, barbeques and other activities, CIBC employees across British Columbia, Northwest Territories and the Yukon raised $275,000 to help BC Children's Hospital meet its growing pediatric needs.

CIBC Miracle Day

Together with clients across Canada and in offices in New York, London and Hong Kong, our employees generated $5.5 million on CIBC Miracle Day to benefit kids in need around the globe. Over the past 33 years, the initiative has raised nearly $250 million globally.

Movember

CIBC is a global leader in fundraising for the Movember movement, with over $3 million raised since 2007 to promote men's health. Funds raised during this campaign go toward research to address some of the biggest health issues faced by men: prostate and testicular cancer, mental health and suicide prevention.

"I do it for my mom who has done so much to help me. I was 5 years old when I was diagnosed with a degenerative eye disease. Shortly thereafter, my mom started a fundraiser to support vision research and joined the Foundation Fighting Blindness. That was 20 years ago. Through my mom's work at the foundation, I was inspired to take action and become a mentor for other young, visually impaired people within my community. From organizing networking events to speaking at fundraisers, I see firsthand the impact of building a support network. It's about connection. It's about hope. And, it's about building a future together where everyone thrives."

- > In our banking centres, we host financial literacy seminars to educate young adults between the ages of 18 and 25 on a range of topics including budgeting, expenses and managing their personal finances.

“I am a big supporter of Junior Achievement. I go to classrooms and teach youth about the economy as well as the importance of savings and budgeting. I want to help improve the financial literacy of young Canadians so that they’ll make smart decisions when they start making money.”

Benjamin Tal, CIBC Managing Director and Deputy Chief Economist

Futurpreneur is the only national, non-profit organization that provides financing, mentoring and support tools to aspiring business owners aged 18 to 39. Its mentoring program matches young entrepreneurs with a business expert from a network of more than 3,000 volunteer mentors. Since its inception, it has supported over 11,400 entrepreneurs, helped create more than 47,000 jobs and helped generate tax revenues of nearly $300 million.
- > Each year, CIBC Bank USA donates $500,000 to community organizations that provide entrepreneurial training programs.

Women

- > CIBC is a longstanding National Corporate partner of the Canadian Women’s Foundation’s Economic Development Fund, having provided over $2 million in financial support since 1996 and lending our expertise as representatives on the national committee at various times.

- > To advance financial literacy for Indigenous peoples, we have created a Personal Financial Planning Course to help participants take stock of all their assets and obligations and develop a suitable financial plan. The course can be presented in the community at no charge. We also offer an Indigenous-peoples-focused Financial Literacy Program that supports community members with online banking education and financial literacy workshops designed to meet their unique needs.
- > As the Official Bank of the Canadian Hockey League (CHL), we developed a unique financial literacy program targeting hockey players aged 16 to 19 from our 23 sponsored teams that teaches fundamental money management skills through four modules of learning. The four modules cover chequing and savings accounts, managing money, credit and borrowing. The CIBC Financial Skills Training program is now a permanent part of the CHL’s annual training camp for these 23 teams.

CIBC Donation Helps Students Master Money

In 2018, we pledged $125,000 to Nova Scotia Community College (NSCC) to support the development of a financial literacy course.

The course will be built into every program at NSCC locations across the province so students can learn to manage their money and make smart financial decisions now and in the future.

“Through the generosity of CIBC, students at Nova Scotia Community College will be better equipped to manage expenses, control personal debt and begin saving money for their future. We are so fortunate that CIBC sees the value in addressing this pressing societal issue amongst the college-aged population.”

Over the past 151 years we have built our business on a foundation of strong ethics and leading corporate governance. In this section, we discuss our approach and 2018 performance in these key areas.

Everything we do as a financial services provider depends on having the confidence and trust of our clients, employees, shareholders and other stakeholders. Effective corporate governance ensures that our Board of Directors has proper oversight of how CIBC is being managed. We strive each year for continuous improvements in our governance – from our controls around accountability, strategic decision-making and managing risk to our executive compensation and disclosure practices.

Business ethics are interconnected with our efforts to be a corporate governance leader. To earn and maintain public trust, we have an integrated framework of policies and programs to ensure our activities are conducted with honesty, respect and integrity. Commitment and diligence from every member of our global team are required to sustain the ethical and responsible growth of our business.

We also believe that engaging in public policy forums and other government relations activities contributes to our success. By being an active and constructive participant in discussions about important issues facing both our banking business and the broader economy, we seek to inspire changes that benefit everyone.

6.1 Corporate Governance

Why it's important to CIBC

Effective corporate governance ensures that our Board of Directors has proper oversight of how CIBC is being managed on behalf of shareholders and all stakeholders.

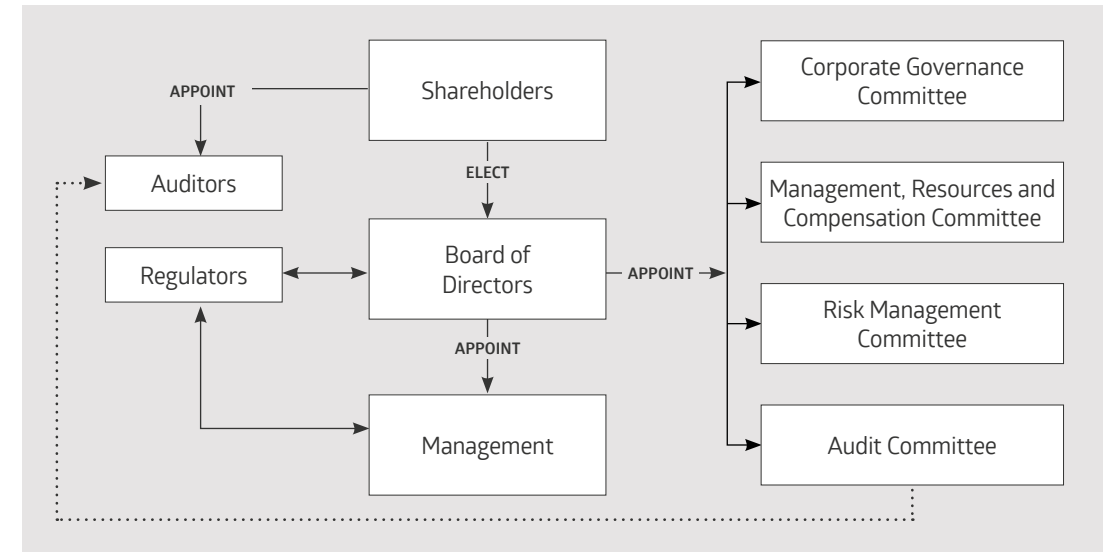

Management Approach

At the foundation of CIBC's governance structure are knowledgeable and effective directors who are committed to upholding strong governance principles and fostering a culture of engagement and transparency.

Key components of CIBC's governance practices are set out below:

- > Director independence is an important part of how the Board satisfies its duty to supervise the management of CIBC's business and affairs. All Board members are independent except for the CEO.
- > CIBC's Statement of Corporate Governance Practices describes the governance framework that guides the Board and management in fulfilling their responsibilities to CIBC and its shareholders, employees and clients.
- > The Board Diversity Policy recognizes the value that all aspects of diversity bring to the boardroom in gaining other perspectives and making better decisions for CIBC and its clients, shareholders and employees. Women make up 44% of our Board – exceeding the Board's goal of at least 30% women.
- > CIBC's stakeholder engagement processes reflects the Board's and management's belief that understanding the broad range of stakeholder perspectives is important to being a relationship-oriented bank and welcomes stakeholder feedback as valuable input for enhancing its governance practices.
- > CIBC's Code of Conduct sets out the principles and standards of behaviour we expect from our employees, contingent workers and members of the Board of Directors and supports CIBC in living up to our values of Trust, Teamwork and Accountability.

Another component of good governance is risk management. We manage a wide variety of risks across all our business areas. Defining acceptable levels of risk and establishing sound principles, policies and practices for managing risks is fundamental to achieving consistent and sustainable long-term performance, while remaining within our risk appetite. For more about risk management at CIBC, refer to page 41 of our 2018 Annual Report.

“Having a breadth and depth of experience across Board members is critical. We continue to review the alignment of the skills and experience of your Board with CIBC’s strategic priorities and the long-term needs of the Board. This review helps us identify gaps in the Board’s collective skill set for Board renewal purposes and continuing education.”

Guiding Our Corporate Responsibility Journey

Two committees of the Board have oversight accountabilities related to corporate responsibility:

- > The Corporate Governance Committee oversees the annual evaluation of the Board's performance and effectiveness, CIBC's corporate governance framework, policies on CIBC's approach to conducting its business in an ethical and socially responsible manner, CIBC's Code of Conduct, client complaint processes, privacy matters and the Board's stakeholder engagement framework.
- > The Risk Management Committee reviews and approves CIBC's frameworks and policies on the identification and control of risks. This review includes our Reputation Risk Management Framework and the Global Conduct Risk Framework.

In addition and to ensure alignment with our risk-controlled approach to compensation, the Management Resources and Compensation Committee considers input from the Chair of the Risk Management Committee when making variable incentive compensation decisions.

Our Executive Committee is accountable for the progress of our corporate responsibility program and senior management compensation is linked to company-wide performance. Annually, the Management Resources and Compensation Committee sets goals and measures for the CEO and Executive Committee members. These goals align with CIBC's culture and incorporate metrics for inclusion and diversity as well as environmental performance for certain employees, which are then incorporated into the goals and measures of other executives and team members across the bank.

When making variable incentive compensation decisions, the Management Resources and Compensation Committee looks at business performance and risks undertaken by considering the performance of CIBC and its businesses against financial and non-financial metrics, including client experience, risk appetite measures and compliance with governance, control and policy requirements. As well, there is a higher proportion of deferred compensation for individuals with the potential to create significant risk for CIBC. Our Executive Compensation plans adhere to the Financial Stability Board Principles and Standards for Sound Compensation Practices. See CIBC's Proxy Circular on our investor relations website for additional information.

Tanya van Biesen, Executive Director, Catalyst Canada

6.2 Business Ethics

Why it's important to CIBC

The way we conduct business is as important as the services and products we offer. Strong business ethics are vital to our bank's reputation, relationships with stakeholders and long-term growth.

Management Approach

We're committed to operating in an honest, ethical and responsible manner at all times, and we have robust policies and programs to achieve this.

Code of Conduct

Our Code of Conduct sets out the principles and standards of behaviour expected from employees, contingent workers and members of the boards of directors of Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce and its wholly-owned subsidiaries. The Code covers subjects ranging from avoiding conflicts of interest to ensuring a respectful and safe workplace to protecting privacy and confidentiality. Annual training on the Code is required for all CIBC employees and contingent workers, and includes scenario-based decision-making exercises along with an annual attestation of compliance. The Corporate Governance Committee oversees compliance with the CIBC Code of Conduct.

Goal – 100% of employees complete CIBC ethical training on our Code of Conduct

2018 Performance – 100%

Corporate Mandatory Training and Testing (CMTT):

All employees and contingent workers must annually complete a series of e-learning modules (see below) designed to help our team members achieve CIBC's vision while meeting regulatory, legislative and policy learning requirements. We closely monitor completions of CMTT by the specified deadline.

Mandatory Training and Testing modules include:

- > CIBC's Vision and Values
- > Act with Integrity
- > Anti-Bribery and Anti-Corruption Policy
- > Health and Safety for Employees/Managers
- > Anti-Money Laundering and Anti-Terrorist Financing
- > Confidentiality and Privacy
- > Managing Risk
- > Records Management
- > Respect in the Workplace
- > Sexual Harassment Awareness
- > Violence in the Workplace

Anti-Money Laundering and Anti-Terrorist Financing

We have an enterprise-wide program that helps us to detect, deter and report suspected money laundering and terrorist financing activities. These measures include appropriate controls and procedures to ensure we are conducting due diligence on new and existing clients, and for performing enhanced due diligence on clients who may pose a potential risk to CIBC. We stay informed about evolving trends and techniques to counter such risk, consult on an ongoing basis with external experts, and provide regular training to help our employees stay abreast of ongoing changes. Our Risk Management Committee oversees this program.

CIBC Leads Fight Against Fentanyl Trafficking

Pervasive use and dependence on illegal opioids, such as fentanyl, have skyrocketed in recent years, triggering a significant number of overdoses and deaths in every region of the country. Fentanyl – a powerful painkiller that’s 50 to 100 times more potent than morphine – accounts for more than two-thirds of the opioid-related deaths.

To promote this illegal trade, opportunistic drug traffickers continually hunt for ways to take advantage of the global financial system. Through devious and sophisticated tactics such as money laundering, wire transfers and virtual currency, these criminals can facilitate opioid procurement and delivery in and out of countries worldwide, often involving black-market versions of fentanyl.

Project Guardian: A Unique Partnership

CIBC has been leading a public-private project called Project Guardian to combat illegal fentanyl trafficking. Through this unique alliance – launched in 2018 – we have helped rally action and collaboration across financial institutions, governments and other sectors to find innovative ways to help tackle this illicit activity.

Intelligence Sharing

In particular, CIBC is working closely with the Financial Transactions and Reports Analysis Centre of Canada (FINTRAC) and law enforcement agencies to monitor, identify and share intelligence about suspicious transactions involving fentanyl. FINTRAC has created a list of money laundering indicators that assist businesses like ours to detect the various ways drug traffickers exploit the financial system to distribute fentanyl and other opioids.

“This crisis is a significant concern to CIBC because it affects our clients, our communities and our business. In response, we have spearheaded Project Guardian to fight this truly global crime and attempt to halt illegal opioid trafficking, which is devastating so many Canadians and their families.”

Stephen Wade, CIBC Chief Anti-Money Laundering Officer

Anti-Bribery and Anti-Corruption

An Anti-Bribery and Anti-Corruption Policy, a Fraud Management Policy and other measures help ensure our people don’t engage, directly or indirectly, in bribery, kickbacks, fraud or other corrupt activities. In particular, we have zero tolerance toward internal fraud and have procedures to prevent bribery and corruption when hiring employees or contingent workers, engaging suppliers and entering into strategic transactions. All internal fraud is investigated, recorded, and reported to the CEO, the Executive Committee, the Operational Risk and Control Committee, and the Audit Committee. Our Risk Management Committee oversees this program.

Human Rights

We believe that ensuring human rights is a cornerstone of doing business ethically. CIBC is committed to providing a workplace that is free from harassment and discrimination on the basis of characteristics protected by human rights legislation – including national or ethnic origin, colour, religion, age, sex, sexual orientation, marital status, family status, physical and/or mental disability, gender identity and gender expression. Our Management Resources and Compensation Committee oversees our human capital strategy. See below for more details.

Reporting

Anyone working on behalf of CIBC must report suspected violations of our Code of Conduct or the law. Our confidential Whistleblower Hotline, available 24/7 and in multiple languages, allows for anonymous reporting of concerns without fear of retaliation. Our Whistleblower Policy outlines the requirements for reporting and investigating concerns whether raised internally or from an external party. Contravention of our Code or the law may result in disciplinary action including termination of employment. The Audit Committee oversees our Whistleblower Policy and CIBC’s fraud prevention and detection program.

2018 Performance

- > Every year we update our Code of Conduct for approval by our Board of Directors. This approach ensures our Code remains current and relevant. The most recent Code was launched in November 2018. The updates align with changes in CIBC policies, regulatory requirements and best practices. With the change in cannabis laws, our Code now includes provisions that limit the use of recreational cannabis. In addition, we combined CIBC's Code of Ethics for Directors with CIBC's Code of Conduct to consolidate and simplify our approach to behavioural codes.
- > All CIBC employees and contingent workers completed training and testing and attestation on the Code of Conduct. Many team members completed additional role- and business unit-specific mandatory training as applicable.
- > We updated mandatory training to include new modules on:
 - > Sexual Harassment Awareness that reinforces how we must all work together to prevent, report and respond to sexual harassment in the workplace.
 - > Anti-Bribery and Anti-Corruption Policy to help team members recognize and avoid involvement in activities linked to bribery and corruption.

Safeguarding Human Rights: A Comprehensive and Unwavering Effort

We at CIBC ensure everything we do respects human rights. It is at the core of how we run our business – and brought to life in the many ways we promote human rights in our workplace, in our communities and throughout our supply chain.

Everyone has the right to be treated fairly, with decency and respect, and to feel safe and secure when they come to work or interact with us. This philosophy is at the heart of our human rights commitment and is embedded into every corner of our organization. Here is an overview:

- > Dedicated team: A team within our Human Resources group proactively anticipates and manages human rights issues that may arise for employees, contingent workers and clients. The team collects data, monitors trends, conducts investigations where required and advances our policies and processes on promoting human rights.
- > Feedback channels: Employees can voice workplace concerns through various channels, as outlined in our Whistleblower Policy and the Speak Up Policy in the U.K., including our Employee Survey, Workplace Issue Resolution Process, Whistleblower Hotline, and Employee Relations Hotline.
- > Change Initiative Risk Assessment Process: This robust process includes reviews of all initiatives and ensures potential human rights issues are identified and addressed.
- > Competitive and equitable rewards: We conduct regular reviews of our Total Rewards offer, consisting of salary, a flexible benefits program, pension and retirement savings programs, Employee Share Purchase Plan, Employee Banking Offer, and variable incentive compensation awards, and make necessary adjustments to ensure our offer remains market competitive and appropriately recognizes team members for their contributions. CIBC is committed to ensuring that our Total Rewards offer remains consistent with Living Wage Principles.
- > Pay equity: To ensure women are paid equally, CIBC conducts internal gender pay gap analysis and a same job gap analysis, using an internal methodology. As part of our annual compensation cycle, CIBC reviews and compares compensation levels to ensure alignment with CIBC's gender-neutral internal compensation structure, including base salary and variable compensation, and market data as applicable.
- > Training: Employees receive training on a range of human rights issues, and in 2018 we introduced new Sexual Harassment Awareness training to supplement our sexual harassment policy.

- > Freedom of association: We respect the choice of our employees and we do not conduct business where the right to exercise freedom of association and collective bargaining is at risk. Approximately 2% of CIBC employees in Canada are covered by a collective bargaining agreement, specifically at our Credit Card Contact Centre in Toronto.
- > Compliance: We comply with applicable human rights laws and standards wherever we operate, including laws addressing issues such as pay equity, employment equity, health and safety, discrimination and harassment.
- > Our suppliers: As a condition of doing business with us, suppliers must model strong human rights practices. CIBC is committed to ensuring that slavery and human trafficking are not employed in our supply chains or in our business.
- > Local communities: We respect the cultures and traditions of all peoples, including those of Indigenous communities.

Our Policy Framework – An Integrated Approach

Our pledge to protect and promote human rights is woven through many CIBC policies, such as:

- > CIBC Code of Conduct
- > Respect in the Workplace Anti-Discrimination and Anti-Harassment Policy
- > Workplace accommodation policies
- > Employment Equity Policy
- > Global Hiring Policy
- > Gender – Reassignment Policy (U.K.)

Our primary goal is to maximize the value we generate for our shareholders while fulfilling our legal, regulatory, social and environmental responsibilities. To that end, we comply with the requirements of tax, money laundering, and other laws of all of the countries where we carry on business. In addition, we follow strict compliance procedures, including under our Global Reputation and Legal Risks Policy. We also support the need for all countries, including so-called tax havens, to develop laws and regulations that improve the economic and social well-being of people globally while preventing illegal activity, rather than facilitating it. We will continue to support the development of these laws, as well as initiatives through forums like the Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD).

Our approach to tax governance includes the following key elements:

- > Complying with all applicable tax laws, rules and regulations
- > Maintaining tax compliance as a fundamental part of our business practice
- > Paying all taxes due in the jurisdictions where we operate
- > Working transparently and co-operatively with the appropriate tax authorities
- > Consulting with leading law and accounting firms to obtain expert, objective advice and opinions on tax matters
- > Proactively working with policy-makers and revenue authorities
- > Complying with the arm's length transfer pricing principle for CIBC's intra-group cross-border transactions
- > Following the OECD transfer-pricing guidelines adopted by Canada and many foreign jurisdictions, including country-by-country reporting
- > Continuous monitoring of OECD pronouncements and local country laws for transfer pricing developments

6.4 Public Policy and Political Contributions

As part of CIBC’s initiatives to help build strong communities, we contribute to public policy goals and support the democratic process.

We meet regularly with political stakeholders, officials and regulators to promote a healthy financial sector and economy. As part of a highly regulated industry, we believe it is important to engage in relevant public policy discussions and industry consultations to offer constructive feedback and expertise. Informed policy-makers make better decisions for our communities, our clients and our shareholders.

Transparency and governance

We are transparent about all of our public policy activities and political contributions wherever we operate. As part of our approach, we have implemented robust policies and procedures – including CIBC’s Code of Conduct, Federal Lobbying and Political Donations Policy (Canada), and Anti-Bribery and Anti-Corruption Policy – to ensure that our engagement with government bodies and officials follows CIBC’s strict standards and complies with all relevant laws and regulations.

As part of its governance oversight, CIBC’s Corporate Governance Committee reviews our framework for communicating with our stakeholders and our approach to maintaining effective relationships with governments and regulators. On a monthly basis, Government Relations contacts all employees authorized to undertake lobbying activities and determines whether any reportable communications have occurred.

Political donations – Canada

- > We do not contribute to Canadian federal political parties, candidates or electoral district associations, and we also do not donate to municipal politicians.
- > At the provincial level, we contribute to political parties where legally permitted, and each donation is publicly disclosed through the provincial election websites. In 2018, our provincial political donations totaled $20,100 to various parties, compared to $41,000 the previous year.

Political donations – U.S.

- > Our U.S. business has a Political Action Committee (PAC) registered with the Federal Election Commission (FEC). The CIBC PAC is supported entirely by voluntary employee contributions, which are reported to the FEC and the relevant State or local election commissions and are publicly available. These funds allow CIBC to support the PACs of the financial industry trade associations where we are a member and, periodically, contribute to candidates and political committees on a bi-partisan basis. In 2018, the CIBC PAC made no donations to political parties or candidates.
- > As a state-chartered bank, CIBC is allowed to contribute to candidates and political committees at the state and local level, subject to limits set by each jurisdiction. Our corporate political contributions in the U.S. equaled US$11,640 in 2018, compared to US$15,350 the previous year.
