

It started with a kiss...

How it all started

Mexx was born just like you, starting with a kiss. In 1986 Rattan Chadha took his men's brand Moustache and women's brand Emanuelle and joined them together.

Take the first letter of each and add two kisses: Mexx. Both brands stood for the same lifestyle and would make a stronger statement

Translating a lifestyle into fashion

The ultimate goal of Mexx is to promote a casual, modern lifestyle. A lifestyle that is all about having fun, being free-spirited, optimistic, open-minded, nonconformist and inspiring.

We create fashion that finds a way into wardrobes and lives. Pieces that, once discovered, will be lived in, loved in, mixed with others and owned.

Everyday fashion for real people. People who, like us, live life to its fullest and prefer being real to being perfect.

Everything should be XX

More than ever it's important to be able to be with the people you love.

To laugh and cry together, to hug and kiss each other. Mexx puts love for our dear ones above everything else.

Where it once started with a kiss, Mexx became a brand that values being together with lovers, friends & family. From this point of view we create & sell our collections.
