Our People

The Group is committed to supporting the wellbeing of our employees and those directly engaged in our operations. There are various measures in place to safeguard against human trafficking or individuals being forced to work against their will.

- Our Core Values set out the manner in which we behave as an organisation and how we expect our employees to act.
- We operate a robust recruitment policy, conducting pre-employment checks including references and the right to work in the respective location.
- To ensure our employees are aware of the safeguarding processes in place we provide a comprehensive induction for new starters, and each employee has access to a dedicated HR Business Partner for their area.
- The Employee Handbook sets out all our core employment practices and escalation channels should employees feel mistreated, and all policies are available on the company intranet.
- Our whistleblowing policy ensures that all employees know that they can raise concerns about how colleagues are being treated, or practices within our business or supply chain without fear of reprisals including through a hotline managed by an independent, outside service provider.
- An employee engagement survey is also undertaken each year to offer employees the opportunity to provide feedback on an anonymous basis.
- In the UK, we subscribe to The Living Wage Foundation which demonstrates our commitment to paying higher rates of base pay. It provides a benchmark for responsible employers who choose to pay their employees a rate that meets the basic cost of living in the UK and London.

Our Policies on Modern Slavery and Ethical Behaviour

The Group has adopted policies and principles to address modern slavery and ethical behaviour across our business in the following materials:

- Modern Slavery and Human Trafficking Policy
- Vendor Code of Conduct
- Anti-Bribery and Corruption Policy
- Anti-Money Laundering Policy
- Code of Business Conduct
- Global Vendor Management Policy
- Global Procurement Policy
- Whistleblowing Policy

Overview of our Supply Chains

The Group operates relatively simple supply chains, predominantly comprising business and professional services organisations and have minimal contact with the countries and sectors that are generally considered to have a risk of modern slavery. Throughout the last financial year, we have continued to take a risk-based approach to addressing matters of modern slavery and human trafficking within our supply chain. These measures include:

- Providing vendors with a copy of our Modern Slavery and Human Trafficking Policy which sets out the high ethical standards we expect our vendors to adhere to.
- Conducting due diligence on our vendors based on the region of operation and goods or services provided to ensure they operate fair employment practices.
- Requiring our vendors to comply with all applicable law and regulations and where applicable, including anti-slavery and human trafficking provisions in our contractual arrangements with relevant vendors.
- Ensuring relevant departments within the Group receive Ethical Sourcing training to raise awareness and learn how to identify and address any incidents of non-compliance.

The Group remains committed to working with its vendors to provide support and guidance when implementing anti-slavery policies. To demonstrate this, an enhanced Vendor Code of Conduct was implemented in 2019 to further raise awareness with our vendors.

Risk Assessment and Due Diligence in our Supply Chains

The Group has a variety of systems and processes in place that are designed to identify and assess potential risks within our supply chain. The Group conducts annual due diligence to monitor and mitigate such risks.

Our Vendor Management Office (VMO) considers vendor spend, geography, and global business critical vendors when determining risk assessment framework, The Group will incorporate and integrate the risk assessment framework in the vendor onboarding process and ongoing due diligence monitoring.

The Group is committed to maintaining a strong corporate culture employing high standards of integrity and fair dealing in the conduct of the Group's activities, compliance with both the letter and the spirit of relevant laws and regulations, and standards of good market practice in all jurisdictions where the Group's business is carried out.

As a regulated investment management company, primarily operating in major financial centres, we believe the likelihood of modern slavery existing within our own organisation or supply chain to be very low. Policies and processes have been implemented and our approach is designed to be proportionate to the risks identified and will be supported by the existing anti-bribery and corruption due diligence work which is undertaken by our Compliance function.

Monitoring and Reporting our Effectiveness in Combating Modern Slavery in our Supply Chains

The Group's Modern Slavery monitoring was conducted by the VMO in 2020 for the UK and will be extended to Australia in 2021. The VMO identified 53 vendors that required monitoring and outreach. The vendors were determined by:

- Sorting the top 50 third-party vendors by spend (highest to lowest).
- Including critical/global vendors that were not present in the top 50 spend list (i.e. fund service providers, pricing vendors, software providers)
- The result of this process left a list of 53 vendors that was confirmed by senior management.

The Group's outreach to the 53 identified vendors can be summarized by the following:

- Emails were sent to all 53 identified vendors with the Group's Modern Slavery Statement, and Vendor Code of Conduct.
- The Group did not require the vendors to respond with a confirmation of adherence to the Vendor Code of Conduct, however many of the vendors did.

To the best of its knowledge, the Group has not caused or contributed to modern slavery in 2020 and currently has no ongoing or pending remediation projects in relation to the same.

During 2021, the Group intends to enhance its processes and broaden the scope around identifying, monitoring, tracking, and combating modern slavery risk and further develop means to remediate the risk. The Group is working to establish an enhanced list of vendors to reach out to directly in 2021 and will continue to communicate and engage with our vendors to ensure they are aware of our policy on Modern Slavery. Additionally, efforts will be made by the Group to raise awareness with employees around addressing modern slavery (corporate communications and required training).

Our Investments

The Group is committed to the principles of good stewardship and responsible investment, and to being a positive influence on the companies we invest in. This includes consideration of the risk of human rights violations such as slavery and child labour in company supply chains.
